

The covid case in the hospital is a gay male in his 40, has HIV and is thereby probably auto immune. He is doing well at this time and is on oxygen. They say that the nurses are wearing appropriate protection. They wear hospital coverall, flimsy face-shield and normal mask. Doesn't sound like the N95 they should be wearing. They keep this out of the news obviously. I am not sure what to do with this information but I thought I would send this to you because I don't want to keep this to myself.

I know many nurses from the hospital and this came from a nurse that directly cares for him. I am not allowed to tell anyone. But I think adding that he has HIV is pretty important. Or at-least that he is a high risk case. This is all the information I have. Thank you for what you do!!!

Wow! Thank you so much. Can I share what you just wrote, without your name of course? People are already overreacting with "one hospitalization" as if it's the beginning of the end of us (insane). This information is incredibly important for two reasons (1) if the person dies, people will at least wonder whether it was from his underlying medical condition rather than the virus, which will reduce the panic, or (2) if the person recovers, people will see that even an immune-compromised person need not fear this virus.

Ofcourse! That is why I am sharing it with you!

And it isn't proved that he is auto immune, but when you have HIV it is very likely that you are auto immune. I am not a doctor or nurse but that is what I was told. I keep you posted if I hear anything else.
